INTRODUCTION

One of the goals of Resources for Children with Special Needs is to help insure that children and youth with disabilities and special needs spend successful, productive summers. We hope that our Special Camp Guide will help parents, caregivers and professionals begin planning early in the year to locate appropriate summer programs.

The 1999 edition of the Special Camp Guide includes many day and sleepaway programs, and sections for young children and teenagers. Program information is presented in English and in Spanish.

Resources for Children with Special Needs is not a certifying agency, but an independent, not-for-profit information, referral, training and support center. We are not recommending any camp or program. We advise parents to make careful and educated decisions in selecting an appropriate summer program. (See "Suggestions for Selecting a Camp", p. iii).

This Guide is intended to serve as a source of current information. The program descriptions were submitted by the programs themselves in November and December 1998. More up-to-date information can be obtained by contacting camps and programs directly.

We encourage parents, caregivers and professionals to do their own research in locating new programs and hope they will share this information with others. We welcome any new resource information and feedback.

Resources for Children with Special Needs wishes to thank Linda Lew, MLS, for her supervision of data entry and for her expertise in the overall production of the guide. We wish to thank Veronica Feliciano and Iliana Velez-Howard for their skillful word processing and data entry; Helene Craner, CSW, for her editorial reviews; Roberto Romero for his work on the Spanish section of the Guide; and Anne Kaiser for her information updating. The Guide could not have been published without them.

Have a great summer!

SUGGESTIONS FOR SELECTING A CAMP

A summer spent at a day camp, sleepaway camp or travel camp should be a productive living and learning experience. It can be fun and healthy, and can provide an opportunity to develop new skills and friendships. A camp experience may have a great impact on a child's life, so it is important for parents and caregivers to make a careful decision in choosing a camp. Not every camp meets the needs and abilities of every child.

Since you are the consumer, you have a right to ask any question you wish so that you can better understand a camp program. Some of the questions you may want to consider are listed below.

You and Your Child

_____ What do you want out of your child's camp experience? Improvement in specific areas (language, reading, gross motor skills, social interaction, skills of daily living, etc.)?
_____ What does your child want out of his/her camp experience? A good time? New friends? New skills?
_____ Is your child ready for a day camp?
_____ Is your child ready for a sleepaway camp?
_____ Has your child spent time away from home overnight at a friend's or relative's home?

Director and Staff

_____ Who is the director? What are his/her qualifications?
_____ What are the qualifications of the staff members (education, age, training)? How are they supervised?
_____ What is the professional staff-to-camper ratio (senior counselors, waterfront staff, therapists, medical personnel)?
_____ Who are the medical staff (Doctor, nurse)?
_____ What is the percentage of returning staff?
_____ What kind of screening process is used to select staff?

Camp Program

_____ What is a typical day like? What are the activities? Do children have a choice of activities?
_____ Is one-to-one instruction provided for some activities?
_____ How is the waterfront program run? What are the qualifications of the waterfront staff? What are the safety procedures? How often do children swim?
_____ Are activities varied for different age groups and abilities?
_____ What do children do on a rainy day? Do they stay in camp or go to other facilities?
_____ What is the range of abilities and special needs of the campers?
_____ How does the program meet individual needs and differences?
_____ How are behavior problems handled?

_____ What is done to deal with a child's fear or resistance to a particular activity, i.e. swimming, horseback riding, boating?
_____ What is the percentage of returning campers?
_____ What procedure exists for medical emergencies?
_____ What is the overall philosophy of the camp? (Goals for the children.)

Camp Setting

_____ What is the overall appearance of the campsite?
_____ What are the facilities like for indoor and outdoor sports and games? Are they accessible for children with physical disabilities?
_____ Where are the kitchen and dining areas? Do campers and staff eat together?
_____ Are buildings and equipment safe, well-lighted and in good repair?
_____ Do children sleep in tents? Cabins? Where are bathroom and shower facilities? Are they kept in sanitary condition?
_____ Is there plenty of equipment in good condition?
_____ How many counselors live in each of the cabins or bunks?

Other Things to Consider

_____ What is a typical menu? Who prepares the food? Are provisions made for special dietary needs?
_____ What medical facilities are available at the camp?
_____ Are there procedures for the administration of medication?
_____ What procedures are in place for medical emergencies?
_____ How does your child get to camp? (Transportation provided?)
_____ Do staff members speak languages other than English?
_____ Is there a visitors' day for parents? Are parents able to arrange a visit other than on visitors' day? Are parents able to call?
_____ How is information concerning children's progress shared with parents and/or schools after the camp season?
_____ What can you as the parent share with the camp that will be helpful?
_____ What system exists for laundering of clothing?
_____ Do you want your child to be mainstreamed with children without disabilities for all or part of the day?
_____ What options does the camp offer pertaining to payment (scholarship, sliding scale, payment plans)?

TEEN OPTIONS

For many teens, the thought of planning for the summer may seem a difficult and anxiety-filled process. While day camp or even sleep-away camp may no longer be a possibility, options do exist. Teens will find choices in this section, ranging from travel, volunteer to job training opportunities.

Exploring summer opportunities must begin with the teen! It's crucial to consider what kind of summer experience is desired. Is it to improve academic skills? Prepare for college? Acquire new skills while earning a salary? By preparing an inventory of all work, school, community and social accomplishments, a teen can be guided to help focus on a specific option. Early and careful planning and realistic expectations will make the summer experience a valuable lifetime opportunity. Remember to check all of the camps in the Guide. Many offer summer programs for teens.

Just Call Us

We provide information and assistance in person, by phone, and by mail, in English and Spanish.
Call (212) 677- 4650. We are open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. An answering machine will take messages after hours. Our sliding scale waivable fee for an office consultation for parents is $0 to $50 and covers all help given around a particular issue. We work with people of all income levels, all ethnic and racial groups, in all of New York City's boroughs.

Finding Programs and Services of All Kinds

We maintain a comprehensive computerized database of programs and services for New York City's children with disabilities or special needs and their families. We help find schools and educational programs, public and private, day and residential, general and special • infant and preschool programs • day care and child care services • vocational and job training programs • independent living programs • camps and summer programs • recreational, afterschool and other social programs • cultural resources • family support and respite services • social services • evaluation and diagnostic services • therapies and remedial services • medical and health services • individual professionals • legal and advocacy services • toys, equipment and educational materials • and more.

Advocacy and Support

We provide individual advocacy, including representation at Committee on Special Education meetings and procedural hearings when necessary. We support parents through the process of obtaining help, however long the process might take.

Training and Workshops for Parents and Professionals

We conduct workshops on laws, regulations, rights, entitlements and procedures for obtaining educational and other services; on the systems serving children with disabilities; and on the many kinds of resources available in communities. Every year we present a training series in English and Spanish, and respond to hundreds of requests for specialized training from parent groups, community organizations, and public agencies.

Library

Our library and computerized information management system are supervised by our Director of Information Services, a professional librarian. Parents, professionals and students are welcome.

INTRODUCCIÓN

Una de las metas de Resources for Children with Special Needs es de asegurar que todos los niños y jóvenes con incapacidades y necesidades especiales pasen los veranos productivos y felices. Nuestros deseo es que esta Guía les ayude a los padres como también a los profesionales a comenzar a planear temprano para poder localizar un programa de verano apropiado y explorar la pósibilidad de conseguir fondos para estos programas.

La Guía de Campamentos Especiales de 1999, incluye mucho de los programas de día, y también programas residenciales. Una sección para niños jovenes y adolescentes. Las informaciónes sobre los programas están en ingles y en español.

La agencia Resources for Children with Special Needs no certifica programas de verano, somos una organización independiente y sin ganancias, que prestamos servicios de información, ayuda y remisión. No recomendamos ningún programa o campamento específico. Les recomendamos a los padres que hagan una decisión correcta y cuidadosa al seleccionar un programa de verano. (Vea la sección de "Sugerencias para Seleccionar un Campamento de Verano", p. iii).

El propósito de ésta guía es servir como fuente de información. La descripción de cada programa ha sido hecha por los mismos programas, en los meses de noviembre y diciembre de 1998. Para obtener información mas reciente usted puede llamar directamente a los programas.

Nosotros animamos a los padres como también a los profesionales a buscar nuevos programas, y esperamos que compartan la información con otras personas. Les agradecemos cualguier comentario o sugerencia.

Quisiéramos darle las gracias a Iliana Howard-Velez y a Veronica Feliciano nuestras expertas mecanógrafas, ésta guía no se hubiera podido publicar sin sus ayuda. Gracias a Linda Lew por supervisar los datos y por su destreza y abilidad en la produción de la guía para campamentos especiales; Helene Craner para su analisis editorial; Roberto Romero por su trabajo en la sección español del Guía; y a Anne Kaiser por su ayuda con corrigiendo la información.

Pasen un feliz verano!

Gary Shulman, Director de Programa
Resources for Children with Special Needs, Inc.

SUGERENCIAS PARA SELECCIONAR UN CAMPAMENTO DE VERANO

Pasar un verano en un campamento diurno, o en un campamento de viaje, debe ser un verano de gran oportunidad para aprender y ganar de lo que ofrece ésta experiencia. Puede ser divertido, saludable y a la vez una oportunidad para el desarollo de nuevas destrezas. La participación en un programa de verano puede ser de gran impacto en la vida del participante. Por eso es importante que los padres hagan una decisión cuidadosa porque no todos los programas cumplen con las necesidades de cada niño. Ud. tiene el derecho de hacer cualquier pregunta que le ayude a comprender el programa. Algunas de las preguntas que usted puede considerar son las siguientes:

LAS OPCIÓNES PARA LOS JOVENES

Hacer proyectos para el verano es un proceso difícil y ansioso para muchos jóvenes. Es posible que la posibilidad de asistir a un campamento de día, interno ya no exista, pero existen otras opciones. En esta sección del guía, les presentamos a los jóvenes oportunidades de viaje, de trabajo voluntario y adiestramiento de empleo.

El joven tiene que explorar las oportunidades de verano. Al principio, el joven tiene que decidir lo que quiere hacer. ¿Mejorar en las destrezas académicas? ¿Prepararse para la universidad?

¿Desarollar nuevas destrezas y al mismo tiempo ganarse la vida? Si el participante hace un resumen de todas las habilidades académicas y sociales, podrá enfocar en sus objectivos para el verano. Los proyectos realísticos pueden ser de gran impacto en la vida del participante.
